Lower 70s, calm, overcast, some humidity, rocky terrain

COACH'S COMMENTS:

In talking with the guys who were a part of the front running varsity pack on Saturday, they commented how powerful it felt to be racing as such a unit. They felt energy and motivation from being pushed by each other. This comment is definitely a significant thing to remember for racing, but it's also relevant for our team all the time in every way. When we are close, when we feed off of each other, when we challenge each other, when we have cohesion, when we enjoy what we are doing together, then we are powerful. That's all you need to remember from Color Wars. I really enjoyed the energy from the Color Wars teams and their choreography. It was a close competition and we had some really creative ideas. There's also two takeaways from this portion of the race day: 1. We should always be enjoying what we are doing. This is fun. 2. We need to develop the skill of being able to move our focus around and shift in and out of competition mode. At the biggest meets, there are distractions that you can allow to get in the way. At Nike Nationals, for instance, there are all sorts of distractions of travelling, dealing with all of these events and meals and so on. You will need to be able to disconnect from the race build up and re-focus and manage your emotional attention. We did that.

And then the race went off. It was a really nice day to race with the exception of some of the terrain out there, but overall, a quality day to race. And we got after it. What I liked most about the race was how competitive and aggressive we were throughout. The front runners got out hard, then at 800 Michael Molloy stepped on the gas and surprised people. This is what I asked for on Friday! We need to view that as energizing. Teams that can go back and forth on each other can be great teams. Teams that try to suppress this kind of challenge or don't respond to this kind of challenge will at best turn into traditional teams: a front runner, then people trickling in, mostly in established positions. We want to keep each other uncomfortable. And Molly has earned the ability to do that. His efforts over this past year have given him the capacity to challenge our front group. He's going to make a big impact on our team this year. As the race went on, we saw more of this: The Gibblins going back and forth, Ahmed Alhayek running people down, Sean Marquardt challenging people with a big move off the downhill. Keep doing this!! One of our goals is to go after it every race and we saw that clearly in this one. Ahmed, with a big one minute drop off of an already high level, has always been someone I believed in due to his composure and the habits—both mental and physical habits—he builds at practice. The same is said for Marquardt. Both of these runners were ones I spotted in practice, well before they were running or racing at a high level, but I could tell by their mentality and habits they were building that they would become great. It might take time, but they would become great. And here they are. It is a powerful reminder that we need to build the best version of ourselves at practice. And look at the improvements from this group! The Gibblins have dropped over three minutes from their freshman year, Cosler dropped four minutes, Ahmed sliced 4:16 improvement from his freshman year time, Molloy cuts 2:10 from last year and 4:30 from freshman year...I could keep going. I put the top 10 runners' freshman year performance down so you can see where our top runners came from. It's important to note for our younger guys. Please note that not a single guy on the team broke 17:00 as a freshman. Only two broke 18:00. FOUR—40%—of our top 10 ran between 19:50 and 21:00 as freshmen. This is what makes this team special. These guys just simply won't compromise and won't settle. If our younger guys have the same character, then we'll be saying the same thing in a year or two. Look at guys like Tim Kircher who cut almost four and a half minutes in one year! No matter where you are at—even if you're Will Giblin in 1st place—continue to focus on improving. It's the one thing you can control.

We opened up our 2019 season this week and the soul of the team is strong and powerful. I'm already so proud of this team and we are one week in. We prepared the best I've ever seen a team prepare. We are taking on the right mentalities—those qualities I can clearly identify that make champions. Keep expressing this character every day. We accomplished our goals for Color Wars week. We got to know each other better, especially our new guys, we developed more cohesion. We stepped up as leaders. We improved as a team. This should be our goal every week.

THANK YOU TO THE PARENTS FOR THE AWESOME SUPPORT! LET'S KEEP THAT GOING, TOO!

75, calm, beautiful

Runner of the Week: Declan Tunney, Trent Anderson

COACH'S COMMENTS: Late night and a quick turnover, so I have brief comments for this one: It was a beautiful evening and we proved once again to be at the top of the state with our performance. We need to continue to seal the cracks and we'll be unbeatable. Our F/S guys were super focused and ready to roll without any instructions—totally owned the day and their racing. I loved the way they went about their business. Seeing some varsity guys in the middle of their warmup pause and come over to the starting line to pump them up was inspiring as well. We were out of the box aggressively and some of our guys bagged it after that. We need to work on dealing with that kind of discomfort better. Other guys, like Declan Tunney, got out hard and then kept aggressive. We was relentless in his competing. He had no respect for anyone in that race. That is fantastic. Sometimes you need to convince yourself of your potential. Sometimes, you need to take a leap of faith and be excited about where that may go. Declan showed that concept to be true and it motivated our varsity guys to do the same. Brock Rice and Trent Anderson took to the second half of that race like assassins, picking people off and moving up competitive spots the entire way. Anderson had the look of a champion out there and Brock pushed himself all the way up to almost winning. Now, stop and take a look at Jonathon Vales. We knew he had improved tremendously and we have quantifiable evidence: he cut 6:22 off his time from the same course one year ago. Amazing. He put in a great summer and it's showing. More importantly, we've always known his attitude and mentality are the exact things that lead to this kind of improvement. The varsity race was about to start and the F/S guys jogged over to the start to fire them up. And it worked. This is what makes us a great team. Both levels of our team made the other one better. Ismail Tineh making the commitment and not fearing the effort to catch the Giblins was a turning point of the race. That was huge for our team—having three guys that far up is obviously powerful—but it also challenged all three of them. That moment of challenge improved all three individual performances. It was a sight to see: three tough runners at the front of the race. Impressive performances. Tommy Sieczkowski clearly improved on his Color Wars performance and bridged the gap a bit. He is relentless and never settles. Alex Miller also had a positive race after a tough outing last week. Brian Bush dropped a minute in only a week! Wow. We made some massive improvements from a year ago and I think we need to continue to focus on improving. We aren't where we want to ultimately be in November yet and need to continue to take care of the process. We will certainly continue to improve as we focus on being in the moment, finding moments of resiliency and accumulating small successes. What a great sight to see the Sandburg uniforms back in actions after a three month layoff! There are few things I enjoy more than watching true Sandburg runners compete. When you throw that jersey on you are representing a great tradition with a lot of people behind you.

NEWS AND NOTES

RUNNERS OF THE WEEK: TJ Cosler, Sean Marquardt, Jack Strolia, Ian McGrath

Lyons Invitational

Saturday, Sept. 7, 2019

Starting low 60s, ending upper 70s, sunny, soft course

COACH'S COMMENTS:

Our goal for this meet—and what we talked about multiple times all week—was to establish a new version of how you interpret your racing, the discomfort of racing, and the story we are telling in our heads. Whether it was a freshman running in his first race, TJ Cosler racing in his first varsity race, a returning varsity runner competing against established runners, our “open varsity” seeing themselves as true varsity guys, sophomores becoming true competitive leaders and taking on a team race up front, or other guys looking for a bounce back race, we saw our team members recreate themselves over and over again on Saturday. It was simply inspiring. The energy surrounding the team was the big win of the day. Our goal was Championship Oxygen present and it was clear that it was in the air. We were feeding off of each other’s excitement and toughness. It was present before, during and after the races. I’ve never seen a team so cohesive at the first invitational as this team was this year. I love the mentality our veterans have taken on this season—we are controlling the controllables and focusing on our own character. Winning is incidental. I hope and trust that we will continue to focus on our character and our process as we move forward with our season.

The first race of the day was our Open Varsity. Please note that I refuse to call this group “JV.” Those are varsity runners. How exciting were these guys? What a great way to start our racing day. Michael Molloy was out blasting from the start. I loved his confidence. He put everyone on the ropes from the start. Alex Miller had the look of someone on the attack. He was a man on a mission, moving through the field and eyeing the front of the race. Ian McGrath had an amazing progression as well and was rolling people up. Molloy was in the hurt shop at this point and kept his head in it, never quitting. Diego Hernandez and Indy Hauter were likewise fighting it out. Diego had committed to the front early as well. He’s a man who is about to break through to a huge performance. It was an inspiring group of racers. Andrew Rohan dropped four minutes from his Color Wars performance—we knew he had more in him! We set the tone for the day in a big way. Next the varsity gun went off and it was our first opportunity to really compete this season against strong competition. How would they establish themselves? We went right to the front. How exhilarating it was to see our entire crew assemble at the front of the race, showing no respect for anyone. So the only question left was, would we ever break? All seven guys answered that question repetitively: no, we don’t break. We are competing with a lot of positive energy, confidence and resolve. That’s all we need to do. Continue to love this team and the act of running, continue to show your character and we will continue to be successful in every way you can measure success. It was great to see Sammy Rodriguez go after the front after getting dropped in the last race. He’s not going to let any single day define him this year. TJ Cosler was simply stubborn and tough in this one. It was his first varsity race and he showed something I strongly believe: character is more important than experience. Ben and Will Giblin were phenomenal. As the race went on and they were being challenged by the Lyons dup and the Morton kid, the Gibs kept responding, at points hanging on by a thread. With 800 to go, they were trailing a couple of guys but I have so much confidence in them—they always manage to outfight anyone at the end of a race. They were amazing, chopping down some great runners and putting themselves right at the front of the state and nation right now. The kid who won is the heavy favorite to win the Indiana state meet, the Morton kid took 3rd in state in the 3200 last spring. Ismail Tineh was right there and almost ran down a 9:09 3200 runner. Again, we showed nobody any respect. This group of seven simply had their way with this race—the race didn’t happen to them, they happened to the race. On to our freshmen, many of whom did not run in our summer camp, so we had a lot of question marks heading into this one. Ibrahim Tineh stuck his nose at the front of the pack like Pre-SWSC. The big difference this time was that he kept at it after the aggressive opening. He saw it through. Meanwhile Trent Anderson had a strong showing and Jack Strolia suffered through some painful stuff this week and never hesitated in racing. He refused to allow anything to be an excuse. Our young guys definitely showed some good progress this week and need to keep it going! Finally, the sophomore race ran in the hottest conditions and you start to worry that a long morning of waiting in the heat can sap you of your energy. Our sophomore were ready to race. Sean Marquardt was once again so impressive with his resiliency. Everyone had confidence in him outlasting his competition. Take a look at his thoughts from his race reflection:

The day before the race instead of thinking about how I could win I thought about how much I would have to hurt to succeed in the race.

My takeaway from this race is to not overestimate the pain during the race and that you can endure much more if you don’t catastrophize.

These are really important things for all of us to remember. He didn’t visualize an easy experience. He visualize the discomfort. Likewise, he didn’t spend his time worrying about his competition, instead focusing on himself and his own character. Meanwhile, we had some amazing efforts from the group behind him with Brock Rice battling through the second half of that race and Declan

Tunney being aggressive once again and simply never giving up. What an impressive two weeks Declan has had! Owen Harty was an absolute key for us in this race. He stepped up huge and made some big improvements. Jackson Fornek was super aggressive and hung in there, closing the back door for us to secure another win to end a great day.

NEWS AND NOTES

RUNNERS OF THE WEEK: Brock Rice, Michael Molloy

Reavis Invitational
Saturday, Sept. 14, 2019
Mid 60s/low 70s. calm, sunny

COACH'S COMMENTS:

We went into the Reavis Invitational with the desire to become a better team. We aren't interested in maintaining or staying where we are. We enter every day—from practices to race days—with the focus on becoming a stronger team and a stronger version of ourselves. Friday's practice was highlighted by Ms. Tyrell coming to meet us and awarding the entire team with Elite Daily shirts. These shirts are not handed out to large groups—these are meant to acknowledge significant, out of the ordinary actions, achievements or values. The fact that Ms. Tyrell felt compelled to award them to our entire team is quite a compliment. It is noteworthy because our entire focus has been on Championship Oxygen—the notion that we can create an atmosphere where people are breathing in the qualities and characteristics of what it takes to be a champion. And this atmosphere is what our principal identified. The t-shirts are great. The environment is our greatest achievement and needs to be our entire focus moving forward. And Ms. Tyrell is pretty amazing. She has never experienced being on stage at the state tournament, game or meet and being awarded a state trophy. How much would you like to be the first team to enable her to experience that? She'd probably get a big kick out of that. Go to work.

As amazing as our varsity have been, the sophomore group has perhaps been most impressive this season. First of all, look at how much those guys have improved over a year. Amazing. Secondly, Trent Anderson and Ibrahim Tineh have stepped into high school running and have been tremendous competitors. They add so much to our team and I'm excited about them leading the way for the next four years. Declan Tunney has been a game changer and is a reminder to me of the power of one guy deciding to believe he is greater than anyone else thinks he is. Declan has propelled himself to a higher level and our entire Sophomore team has gone from good to great because of it. One guy making that jump and deciding to bridge the gap makes all the difference. I hope the varsity takes note. The group took command from the gun, but Brock Rice took command of the entire race before the hill 1.5 into the race. When he did, I could tell from a long way away that he had the body language of someone in command and with confidence. It is a great moment to see. Brock earned that confidence through his efforts, his passion and his competitive fire at that moment of the race. He never looked back and raced his way to a course record, which is impressive considering we've gone to Reavis to compete for over 30 years. Owen Harty has stepped up huge for us this season. In two invitationals, he's been super tough and has locked down the final scoring position. This group managed a 1-4 finish and Harty brought us home with an 8th. Next, our varsity got after it and maybe didn't anticipate the effort that was going to be needed to dominate this race. We should always anticipate a big effort. Michael Molloy has been phenomenal this year and has the determination to make our take top 7 and compete at state. Every racing opportunity that Molloy has had, he has tested his limits. I hope he never stops. Finally, our Open runners were highlighted by Justin Small and Brian Bush who went after the front from the start. These guys really went after it. Bush has only gotten better every week and I respect his efforts and energy. I wish we had him two years ago, but I'm excited to have him out for the team this year. He brings a lot of energy to every practice and it shows in his racing. I'm also really proud of Emerson Farley who came to us before the race suggesting that he's not capable of racing with some aches and pains down his leg. He sucked it up and raced anyway. The rest of our open racers showed some great improvement from Color Wars. Ben Meyer for instance raced 25:13 at Color Wars and is down to 22:25. Matteo Lugo jumped from 25:38 to 21:47. This is the name of the game—keep it going!

Those who have a 'why' to love can bear with almost any 'how'.—Victor Frankl

RUNNERS OF THE WEEK: Ben Gíblín, Will Gíblín, Ismail Tíneh, Sam Rodríguez

Peoria Notre Dame Invitational

Mid 70s, overcast, humid

COACH'S COMMENTS:

Wow! What an exciting day for us in Peoria! Win number was when we called an audible and chose a different gas station and bypassed what would have been a closed gas station in Henry, IL. Yes, we're doing things differently this year and it's working out. The Henry, IL gas station is over. It's time for us to move on from Sandburg past. This is a new team. This is now. Next, the best characteristics I hope for in a team were evident at this meet as well. 1. We were fearless. This team could not care less about rankings, other teams, pressure, whatever. This team is loving this stuff. 2. We were perpetually focused on the controllables and our own process. Not one guy mentioned how we just beat two of the top ten teams in the country during our meet recap. 3. This team was aggressive and owned our races. It would have been really easy to let the meet happen to us. That is common in a meet as large and competitive as this one. We controlled our environment; we didn't let the environment control us. What a powerful team. I will bet on a team with this mindset every day of the week.

And so it was that before the start of the varsity race to kick off our day, I had an overwhelmingly positive feeling about how the race was going to go. I could just tell that the emotional state and readiness of the team was where it needed to be. Sure enough, we were establishing ourselves toward the front right away. The Gíblíns reported to the 800 mark first, ripping off a 2:12-14 at the front line. Our boys were right behind in tow. It's always a long wait for me to see them at the next spot, which is the entry to the North Loop. As the leaders made the turn a few guys passed by then the Gíblíns reporting in and Ismail Tíneh and Sammy Rodríguez right there. This is when I started getting comments shared with me. "Woah. You're guys are killing it." Griffin Lehnhardt was slightly gapped from there and needed to lock down our fifth spot at this point. Cosler and Alhayek were a bit off at this point and needed to commit to going for it to connect with Griff. At this point, we needed help at the fifth spot, Griff was flying solo. Halfway through the race, it appeared we were in command, with only St. Charles East up front with us. With 800 to go, we were still in the thick of the front of the race. I couldn't be more excited than I was—I was just so proud of the confident and assertive nature of our group and now they were toughing it out. Great qualities all around. We definitely need to work on the final segment of our race and we were hemorrhaging points, but I'm confident that will progress and we will hold down the fort next time. Overall, it was such an inspiring performance from a group of guys that I could not be prouder of. We'll continue to improve and become stronger and stronger as we continue on our Invitational segment of our season. So far we are hitting our goals for this segment of the season.

After such a motivating start, I went to the starting line to meet our sophomore group. They were ready—took care of business with no coaches around. No surprises there. This sophomore group is in command and totally determined. And there it was again—a Sandburg guy, Declan Tunney taking the race out from the gun to get us going. He was hitting it a little too fast but I'll never fault him for that. Our team was right there and in charge. Brock Rice was shadowing not far behind but with the look of a hunter. Trent Anderson was holding his own flying solo in the thick of it as was Owen Harty, who was tasked with stepping up for his team on this day. I was proud of Jackson Fornek for stepping into the sophomore level a day before the meet as well.

Finally, we had a fantastic showing from multiple guys in the open race. The excitement for racing at the start of the season only continues to grow with our team. Michael Molloy led this group with a top 10 finish and a new PR. But several guys had great races: Justin Small dropped some major time and is making a bid for our Sophomore top 7. Jacob Coleman stepped up and saw the race all the way through for his best performance in a year. Indy Hauter was also rolling with Diego Hernandez and Ian McGrath close by. Brian Bush had yet another PR, this time entering into the 18s for the first time.

The 2019 Sandburg Cross Country Family is one that has decided to believe. Our runners, our parents, our families, and our school have decided that this group has something to believe in. You've decided to believe in yourselves and each other. You've decided to believe in passion and determination. You've decided to believe in love. You've decided to believe in being present. And in the process, you've given me and the coaches something to believe in. What is a better gift than that?

COACH'S COMMENTS:

Three different invitationals over three days is always a lot of fun. As has been true all season long, as I type this up I am simultaneously proud and excited while also being a little sad that a few more races are behind us. I have been enjoying this season so much and simply don't want it to end ever. It's a reminder to all of you to really embrace each day and get the most out of it. You'll miss this so much when it's over so your best bet is to maximize each day.

I'm not going to go through all of the races individually—that's seven races over three days. Instead, I am going to highlight some inspiring moments and observations from the weekend as a whole.

Related to staying in the present moment and maximizing each day, an absolute key for guys racing is finding ways to stay engaged in the present moment in a race. Griffin Lehnhardt, for instance, had a fantastic performance and the only way he did it was by constantly competing in the moment. As he reflected in his race reflection, it was critical for him to find someone to compete with after the mile mark, which in this case was Sammy and a couple of St. Charles guys. It is definitely helpful and motivating to have teammates to dial into, but if they aren't around, find a competitor and just make him in the moment battle. If you pass him, then choose another person. When you are in a pack, you need to compete with the five guys in front of you as if they are the first five runners in the race and if you beat them, you win. Likewise, it's amazing how you can negotiate with yourself for segments for long enough to eventually get close enough to the finish to close it out. "All out until that tree." Then when you get to the tree pick another landmark and do it again. You can negotiate with yourself.

Another takeaway from the meets is related to our two goals: have fun and race for your teammates. This was evident all over the three meets. Declan Tunney, Sean Marquardt, and Brock Rice have been the epitome of having fun while competing hard and racing for the team all year long. At the Andrew Sophomore Inv we needed them as front runners and a low sticks. St. Charles, we needed him to compete at the varsity level in a competitive field of packed in runners. Both of those races were different experiences and they needed to adapt to what was needed of them. Declan noted how he thought about how his team needed him and it motivated him. I loved the adaptability of these three runners to do what their team needed of them in the moment. Trent Anderson has shown every characteristic of an all-time champion. What he has done over the course of this season is representative of why we are a successful program. He is the character of this team that makes us great. Without it, we are mediocre. So here are the results of the Lyons Invitational Freshmen Race v Andrew or St. Charles (we saw LWC at Andrew, Lyons at St. Charles):

Lyons

Lebeau (LWC) :25 ahead
Kreis (LWC) :19 ahead
Collins (Lyons) :07 ahead
Polonowski (Lyons) :03 ahead
Meyers (Lyons) :01 ahead

Andrew/SCN

:06 ahead
Trent beats him by :06
Trent beats him by :29
Trent beats him by :38
Trent beats him by :39

This is what we are all about. This improvement occurred over the course of one month! One month of doing things on a daily basis better than the competition, one month of positive thinking and fearless running. This character is what makes champions, it's not talent. This happened in the course of one month, imagine what this character looks like on a daily basis, year round for four years. But here is what I really want you to pay attention to:

"My takeaway from this is to put myself in an uncomfortable position during the race and embrace it..."

These were Trent's thoughts after the race; these are thoughts of a champion. I hope everyone has that takeaway. That's why we are doing what we are doing. Let's get uncomfortable and see how we grow as people.

A few other big takeaways:

The week leading up to our race weekend was not always perfect. The weather was up and down, we had some extreme heat early in the week, some guys did not feel good on the workout Tuesday, other guys had some illnesses they were working through and more. We raced well though. Two big takeaways: 1. you guys are tough and resilient and don't make a big deal out of racing hard. I love that. 2. Remind yourself during the week of your goal race that everything does not need to be perfect. You don't need to feel good every day, you don't need to be 100% healthy. Just go race 3 mile hard.

I love how Brock Rice framed his St. Charles varsity race—his first one ever. He reflected that he turned his nerves into excitement. Nerves are your body's response to you doing something you are excited about. Brock Rice has the mindset of a veteran.

We've raced really well, but we are far from being at our best. I don't look at any guy and see evidence that they are at their ceiling.

We don't need to worry about any other teams. We've said it all year long. We are going to be "scoreboard watchers." Let other teams get distracted.

You've been nailing our goals for Invitational Season. You've been present in the moment, you've been focused on ways to improve, you've gone for the win in every race, and you've been willing to risk big. Let's continue to hit on these targets. I'm incredibly proud of this team and have enjoyed being on this journey together.

St. Charles Invitational (by Coach Jonaitis)

A perfect day for cross country. This is the time of the season we all look forward to as cross country runners. We knew coming in it was going to be a challenge. We had an unfamiliar version of a course we had been on before, muddy conditions, and up against several top ranking teams. The varsity led us off, with only one senior toeing the line. A tight pack at the opening mile with only a 10second split separating all 7 runners, and Tommy Sieczkowski leading the way. There were strong packs from competing teams with our guys stalking right behind. Just before the 2mi, Sean Marquardt pushed forward and Brock Rice started moving up after a less aggressive start. I think for Brock, getting out more aggressive at the start and battling up front with his teammates is where he can improve his race. The rest of the guys stayed close behind and finished with a crazy 15sec split. With a split like that we can really do damage if we can move up 10-15 more places. One of the goals of varsity runners had coming in was to beat number 1 ranked St. Charles East and they did that by 83pts and finished 7th place behind some really tough teams.

Following up that race was our huge frosh/soph group. Coming off of a Thursday night race these guys seemed determined to improve on their most recent performances. Trent Anderson and Ibrahim Tineh were the lead coming out of the box. They stuck themselves up near the front and showed they are a force. Owen Harty worked his way through the field and closed the gap between him and the top frosh and closed with a PR. Jackson had a strong finish bouncing back from Thursday and Justin Small closing the door for a 5th place finish. This was another solid effort without our top 3 sophomores. Anthony Murphy knocked some 40 sec off his time today just flat out competing. This is how times drop on a course like this. Just competing and never stop playing offense. It was also good to see the DL bench was cleared and came to race hard.

Closing out the day, on the muddiest version of the course, was our 4 open runners. With the smallest open line-up in recent memory, the excitement for this race was far from small. We had 4 guys who were focused and determined to run well today. Ian McGrath and Indy Hauter were out leading our group and position themselves well up front and kept battling throughout the race. They closed really strong and were able to hold off some charging runners at the end. Andrew Rohan was more excited than I have ever seen him, sneaking under 21min for the first time. My man, Rohan!

NEWS AND NOTES

RUNNERS OF THE WEEK: Alex Miller, Brock Rice, Jonathon Vales

SWSC @ Lockport Campus

High 40's, Mid 50s, calm, mostly sunny, Fast course

COACH'S COMMENTS:

Unbelievable. This group's improvement is the materialization of its character. We talk endlessly about the characteristics you are displaying and developing while you are running, training and racing. Not only is your character more important than your performance, but your character determines your fate in your performances. We emphasize the process of becoming and look at what you've become! First of all, can you believe the heart and determination that this team put on display? Look at the improvements from Pre-SWSC. I can't list everyone but everyone improved. Dan Jarosz drop 6 minutes! Jonathon Vales was 26:22 at Pre-SWSC one year ago, now he's almost breaking 18:00 as a sophomore. Our entire Sophomore Conference lineup, which came into the season performing at a high level, cut a minute or more off their times for everyone in just two months. The varsity group, who came off of an amazing summer and didn't back off this week at all (workout on Thursday!) still dropped significant time. If they're fearless and race with the heart they've raced with all season, we will be unbeatable. These were impressive performances on a week where we got after it for our varsity. Clearly, when we provide a bit more rest like we did the rest of the team, we are going to drop some bombs on Detweiller Park. Put in the training and then get a little rest with some stimulation of variety of systems and...boom. As it was, they expressed some significant strength and speed. Our open guys had so much heart and passion. By the way, had our open runners replaced our varsity runners, we would have had four All-SWSC runners and won the SWSC title. Yes, we could have taken out the seven runners from the varsity race and still won the varsity SWSC Championship. Not bad for a group that lost the SWSC to Lockport at the F/S level two years ago. Tommy Siczkowski showed so much heart out there by taking the lead early and pushing the entire way. I have so much respect for that kind of race: he made it tough on himself and was rolling solo for the majority of the race. I wish we had more guys join him early on in the race. Alex Miller and Ian McGrath steamrolled the second half of the race, just gutting it out through the second loop. And once again, check out all of the improvements from guys from Pre-SWSC. Amazing. Some of the races of the day include Brock Rice's battle for the SWSC championship. The coaches and I made a comment that when you watch certain guys race you start to expect things out of them in those moments of battle. Some, you have come to expect them to back off and falter in the face of competition. They fold. Others never stop fighting. Brock is someone that when he passed me with about 400/500 meters to go and he was in a dead heat with that LWE guy, I have come to expect that he was going to battle for that win. There would be no backing off. And if it took the final second to beat the kid, Brock was going to fight for that. And that is what we saw. We do not take that effort for granted. It's so inspiring. The F/S group as a whole honored those uniforms on Saturday with their energy and confidence. We also want to point out Ahmad Alhayek who is starting to come on strong for us. He's bridging that gap and that is exactly what we need at this point—for our 6/7 to come up and push into our scoring positions. Ahmad is as resilient as they come.

We were surrounded by greatness all weekend. On Friday, we had our Senior Strides, a 17 year tradition, and it provoked you to think about your journey from your first strides to last strides as a Sandburg Cross Country runner. We're all in different spots in our journey but we are all contributing to a tradition and culture of excellence. Saturday, we were surrounded by our tent of champions. But what I love about the start of this day is that the tent was built by our current team. Perfect symbolism. We have the benefit of the empowerment of the greatest tradition in cross country in the United States, but it means nothing without the current team holding it up and continuing to build on it. What will be our next tent panel?

The largest point total out of the three races was 23 points, which was 5 in the top 7 by the best varsity team in the country. That was our highest point total of the day. As I talked about on Friday at 40 Acre Woods, people would watch what we did on Saturday and assume, like Picasso, that it was so easy and took us such a small amount of time to complete the day of racing that we did. I know better. Saturday's SWSC Championships were decided months ago. It was decided on your summer runs, your treadmill or basement run in February, your racing in the spring, the morning or evening runs you completed on your own, your sleep and eating habits, and most of all, the culture of the team: Championship Oxygen. An environment where we push each other to be greater than we ever could be alone. A community where we run for so much more than just a PR or an individual performance. A championship is a community effort. And we have it.

NEWS AND NOTES

IHSA Regional @Hummel Woods/Plainfield South
Saturday, Oct. 26, 2019

COACH'S COMMENTS:

We are constantly in a state of two objectives: 1. Total belief in your character 2. Finding ways to challenge you. This team is one that I totally believe in. I have so much confidence in the character of this group. I am so inspired by this team. Simultaneously, I know you guys thrive on—you love—challenges. It seemed when we went with four underclassmen and two tough juniors and a senior to go run down a Regional title, you all were excited. No doubt, the varsity from SWSC wanted to race. They love racing. But there was great energy from putting together a tough lineup of guys from our F/S and open at SWSC. And they proved what we've been saying all year long; we don't have a top 7 and we have varsity runners far beyond the number 7. One cannot even argue with this point now: we are IHSA Regional Champions. I had total confidence in the seven guys we had racing. They are champions. Let's be clear: the fifth state qualifier out of our sectional would be the group we assembled on Saturday. We had to outrun state caliber teams to win the Regional title. But when you have Brock Rice, Tommy Sieczkowski, Sean Marquardt, Declan Tunney, Alex Miller, Michael Molloy and Trent Anderson rolling, you feel good about your chances. One thing I love about this group is their composure. They just get it done. I never worry about taking care of details or the process with this group. They were on a mission. When the race time got changed, no reaction. Warm up, strides, threshold, etc. No one every disappeared, no one dove into the bathroom unexpectedly. They just went about their business. Most of all, they were excited about the opportunity and the challenge. It's been a part of the oxygen this year: people are excited to race and be challenged. We had a plan to get out to the front before the woods and the single track trails. We executed well, but clearly other teams had the same objective. At the mile mark, the team scores were: 1. Plainfield North—40 2. Sandburg—66 3. Lockport—67. Well, this sure was a battle. How would we respond? The same way we always have this year, by rising to the challenge. It was a unique experience for me: I had seen the boys before the mile and due to my lack of mobility, had to wait a full 8 minutes to see them again. I stood there, in total physical pain from trying to jog/limp, and just having to talk to myself in my own head. The conversation could be summed up like this: "I can't see them right now, but I know how they're fighting." When they emerged, the fight was in full effect and I had to "run" to the finish. Brock Rice has had an incredible season. At the mile mark, he was in 16th place, but Brock never stops fighting. Over the next two miles he would battle his way to 6th place. I think everyone has so much confidence in Brock and his toughness. He has earned that sense of confidence and faith from his teammates and coaches. Tommy Sieczkowski always is full of passion and today was no different. Emboldened by his family's presence, he was running for so much more than Tommy Sieczkowski. And that was evident in the final straightaway. Sean Marquardt down the final bump, in full flight, Declan Tunney gunning for it, Alex Miller, who looked like he might be out of it half way through the race, battled right back and passed 5 guys, Michael Molloy and freshman Trent Anderson who I yelled at to dig deep and run down the Lockport five-man, which they responded and walked him down. Absolutely inspiring passion out there.

TIDBITS: >> Buca Di Beppo on Friday, 6:00. $25/person for both Fridays at Buca. >>ALL 14 GUYS NEED TO BE READY TO RACE NEXT SATURDAY. THAT MEANS LITTLE THINGS (BRING UNIFORM/SPIKES) AND BIG THINGS (MENTALLY READY TO RIP AND STEP IN).

NEWS AND NOTES

Runners of the Week: Goblins

IHSA Sectional @Lyons
Saturday, November 2, 2019

37 degrees, very muddy/soggy, fairly calm, mostly sunny

COACH'S COMMENTS:

Before the sectional race on Saturday morning, I re-considered the race strategy given the conditions of the course. I watched the girls race and it became apparent that they were slow and it was tough out there. A more conservative start would be a smarter choice. A conservative opening and we'd have more left in the tank to combat the slop. Had my primary concern been sectionals, then I would have told you to make that adjustment, but my thought was, "we need to continue doing what we've been doing and it will pay off next week. We need to continue piecing together our state race." So while we paid a bit of a price for the aggression on Saturday, I feel like it served its purpose for next Saturday. We need to continue with that execution which is suited for Detweiller Park. Perhaps none of use realized how bad it was out there and we weren't prepared for the effort. We need to be ready next week for the big effort ahead of us. The Goblins had fantastic races and need to continue to have the same focus moving forward: be confident and aggressive and keep competing. Cushing looked like a runner capable of 5th or 6th in state next week. The Goblins battling him was impressive. The Goblins have been progressing well and have been relentless. Behind the Gibs, we had a strong group getting after it after the mile. One thing I think is a decent lesson from a race like this with the conditions that they are is that you can sometimes feel something early on (it's tiring just getting through 800 sometimes) but you'll be fine. Don't make conclusions about the race until you're done. Our group was well positioned through the mile with Ismail Tineh and Sammy Rodriguez were rolling, only :04 behind the leaders and in great position. Griffin Lehnhardt was :10 back but right there. Cosler and Alhayek were a bit further off, but we would see their racing about to catch fire. We lost a little ground the second mile, but were still looking solid. Ahmad was going all in, and this was a great move. He was going to help our team. We lost a lot of ground with some poor concentration we had in the final mile. If you look at our split, this is where we made some poor choices. Splits off the Gibs in the final mile went as follows: Ismail went from being :24 back to :54 back. Sammy went from :25 back to :57 back. Griff :35 to 1:06, Cosler :44 to 1:08, Alhayek :34 to 1:14. Yikes. We need to make stronger choices at this point. Yes, things might not have looked good to you and the feedback was probably frustrating, but we need to make tougher choices at that point. The Gibs were battling for first, so they were throwing surges at Cushing and they went back and forth. This needs to happen wherever you are, especially in the state meet. The conditions of the course hurt us as well, but the point is, we need to be ready for the big effort.

Regardless, this team has done nothing but compete at the front of every race. We've won almost every race and were 2nd twice to a team that is a top five team in the nation. And we've competed hard against them as well. We can compete with anyone. Our split probably will scare some idiots when they do preview write ups for state, but they don't know the reality of the situation. Our workouts have been amazing—workouts of a championship team with no gaps. We are going to celebrate our journey this week. I am so honored to have been a part of it. The only thing wrong we can do this week is to miss appreciating this season, this team, this journey and the opportunities still ahead. This is no longer a team, it's a family. Love wins. There are lot of things you can feel when you reach big opportunities. One of the things in there is this feeling of love—your teammates, your team, the people you represent, the sport itself, and more. Go to that. Races are celebrations of the relationships you've formed, the team you've built, the fitness you've developed and the love you have. Let's celebrate this amazing 2019 Sandburg team.

TIDBITS: >>Be sure you get enough rest; extra rest on Friday >>Don't over eat >>wash hands >>Buca on Friday>>we'll be using the mini-bus this week every day—Daylight Savings is working against us!
