Time Trial—Midlothian Meadows

70s, calm, overcast/breaking sun/wet

COACH'S COMMENTS:

We accomplished what I hoped we would accomplish this past week: set the tone for the season by committing to a team dynamic and a competitive fire. We saw a lot of tremendous enthusiasm throughout the week and especially on race day Saturday morning. This enthusiasm fueled us and nourished our ability to be competitive. These two components are characteristics that we expect from every runner on the team. Everyone needs to be committed to contributing to the cohesion of the team through their energy and care. We do not want guys who show up and just take from the group. We want people adding a log to the fire. Additionally, we expect everyone to be committed to being a competitive athlete: actively focused on being resilient competitors who are committed to fighting to make our team better. When we go to meets, Sandburg cross country runners are known to be tough to beat, no matter what level you're competing for. We want to see that determination from everyone.

We spend a lot of time talking about our relationship with competition, our relationship with practice, our relationship with our teammates, and our relationship with ourselves. How do you relate to competition? What is your relationship with practice? How do you talk to your teammates? How do you treat yourself? Race day is unique in it allows us to check in with these relationships.

Trent Anderson and Grant Giblin demonstrated these concepts from the start of the race. They competed with each other, disallowing either to get comfortable. Their competitiveness with each other was motivating, not interpreted as threat orientation but rather gain orientation. These two guys represent the front of the state. Very few people will be able to run with them. They set a great standard for us in the way they compete. Similarly, Ibrahim Tineh and Luke Atzman had the tug and pull that we hope for with our runners mid race. Luke has been a major impact runner for us all summer and takes our team to another level. This is the Law of the Jungle at play. He worked on improving himself all summer to contribute to the team, meanwhile with IB we saw the synergy of a great team, making an individual better than he ever could be alone. Evan Deimling and Damian Martinez had to roll solo and that certainly makes it more challenging. Hopefully they'll tighten that up and then feel that synergy we talk about. They both have made tremendous progress from last year and that will continue to be the focus: put the blinders on and continue to get a little better, bit by bit. Our younger crew was definitely the story of the day as they composed four of our top eight, nine of our top 15. Jackson Canellis and Mateo Ramiro Garcia have something special working together. I have never seen their advanced ability to compete so effectively with such composure at such a young age. They are so impressive. They have the makings of champions. As a quick point of reference, Luke Atzman has positioned himself as a strong varsity runner as a sophomore. This comes after a year of commitment. Last year as a freshman, he ran 20:01, two minutes behind where Mateo and Jackson are currently. Myles Jacquez and Jake Crotty also bettered Luke's performance, suggesting that this freshmen group is historically good for Sandburg. We can become our best team ever. Jake has done a great job of managing a hamstring tweak and has been resilient in responding to it and problem solving. Jack Easterhouse may have been the race of the day. He has such tremendous potential and on this day he stepped up and competed so well with our grouping of top F/S guys. Jack was over five minutes faster than last year!! This F/S team is going to have some fun! Hunter Covolo also showed great competitive fire. Another freshman who will greatly impact this team. We have so many stories of guys who started where Hunter is at who ended up all-state or all-conference varsity runners. Hunter is displaying some of those characteristics. Nick Charles also looked like a different runner. Wow. Dropping four and a half minutes from junior to senior year is no small feat. He was fun to watch. This trend continued and makes me so proud. The improvement gaps were so large that I couldn't help but be in awe of the commitment of our guys. Alex Van Alst: over five minutes; Zee Ebert: two and a half minutes; Connor Wholley: three and a half minutes; Brad Spinella: over two and a half minutes; Jay Coppinger: three minutes. Awesome stuff guys. This is what makes our program what it is. Finally, our principal Dr. Smith showcased the relationship with discomfort and competition that we seek out. He agreed to be a part of the early Saturday morning challenge we were engaging in. He didn't know exactly what he was getting into. He warmed up with the group and then suddenly agreed to race with us. He viewed the discomfort and challenge of a race not as a threat but as an opportunity. It's simply not that big of a deal for him to push himself, to be asked to go push his limits for 20 minutes and agree. Afterward, after the cool down, he hadn't reached his plan for how many miles he was running and decided to go add a few more. It's not a stress to train, it's a joy and a welcomed every day challenge. Welcome that challenge like Dr. Smith.

As we continue with the season, it will be easy for guys to settle into roles and start expecting certain people to beat them, and to start sleepwalking through practices. It's easy because in this sport everyone tries hard. You have to "work" to race three miles or complete a workout. So "trying hard" is actually a low expectation in this sport. We need to be even better than that standard and focus on breaking down our own limitations. Oftentimes, we have self-imposed limitations. We lower expectations or have a certain narrative in our heads about our abilities and what we are capable of. Our goal needs to be much much more than "Try hard." We want to eliminate self-imposed limitations; have no respect for them. We want to push our limits regularly and discover that we are capable of more than we know. This sport will continually give you an opportunity to discover a new greatness within yourself. To show courage, resiliency, determination, and relentlessness...To communicate effectively, to show patience, to stay in the moment and focus on the task at hand, to earn trust, to exemplify Kipling's Law of the Jungle: that we synergistically become better individually when we run for the pack and the pack becomes better when the individual improves himself, and finally to show true joy in doing something difficult...it's a possibility every day. And even those words I just mentioned can be regularly redefined.

Guys—what we brought to the table at Midlothian Meadows to start our season will be our greatest weapon throughout the journey. Passion, excitement, fun, unity, team pride, competitive fire, and resiliency. This is what we need to remember. Bring that joy, bring that energy, bring that fearless racing to every practice and every race this season and we'll be successful. So the strange colors are gone. 2021 is gone. It's blue and gold now. It's 2022 now. How are we going to define it?

NEWS AND NOTES

RUNNERS OF THE WEEK: Mateo Ramiro-Garcia, Jack Easterhouse

Lyons Invitational
Saturday, Sept. 3, 2022
Low to Mid 80s, Sunny

COACH'S COMMENTS:

We certainly had a mixed bag on Saturday. The team as a unit did not project the confidence and joy that a Sandburg team normally expresses on race day. We will need to recommit to the trust and joy pillars. Two years ago on Labor Day weekend, the Lyons campus was empty. And we somehow have already lost the excitement and gratitude that comes with an opportunity to race for Sandburg at a big invitational. Let's return to what makes us great. We need leaders to step up and be leaders who bring joy and trust to the team. As I said on Saturday, emotional states are contagious.

In the open race, with just three guys in it, we saw some positives. Lirian Shabani was in his first ever cross country invitational and was willing to be aggressive and fight for a top spot. Likewise, Nick Charles had a solid effort and managed a substantial improvement from a year ago. Our varsity race was a little lifeless. We established positions where we wanted to be early on, which included avoiding an overly aggressive start in the heat. But despite that, we didn't have a whole lot of fight the rest of the way. We had the look of survival rather than of competitors. Watching people survive in a race is painful. Watching people compete is so enjoyable. We went backwards. But, it was a good reminder that we need to be ready for a big effort. We had some really reliable racers graduate and we need to establish stability and reliability with our top group so we can develop trust. The freshman race was the highlight of the day and not simply because they won. Those young guys in their first high school invitational had the look of veterans who love competition. They were attentive to details prior to the race, they developed a positive group mentality, and I witnessed them co-regulate each other at the starting line/strides. Great teams do that. Mateo Ramiro-Garcia, Jackson Canellis and Myles Jacquez immediately established themselves toward the front. We gave a little too much space toward the 1.75/2 mile markers but managed to close really strong. Those guys have the hearts of champions. Jake Crotty kept his head focused the entire race. He simply stayed in the moment and kept battling. Matthew Miller stepped up well after some speed bumps in training and had a great showing. Finally Marco Ortiz made a ton of progress in this race. He has a ton of potential and is beginning to learn how to race. I love the character of that group. Finally, the sophomores were up and it was hot. Our race was once again a survival and not the most energy-filled race. Jack Easterhouse has been a real promising highlight of season so far and he continued to show a ton of heart in that race. I know this group will be back and with a stronger approach this coming week at Reavis. If there is one thing for certain it is that Saturday showed us exactly how challenging it will be to achieve our goals. Where we are at and where we want to be is two different places. And it's not going to change by doing things the same way. We have not fully committed to the goal. We can no longer assume it will simply come to us.

WHAT'S NEXT: Reavis Invitational on Saturday. Varsity: Atzman, Shabani, Ramiro-Garcia, Canellis, Easterhouse, Jacquez. Soph: Crotty, Coppinger, Covolo, Wholley, McGee, Miller, Van Alst. Open: all others.

COACH'S COMMENTS:

As Evan Deimling noted on Saturday, the energy on the team was noticeably different this week. We showed up ready to compete and bring enthusiasm to the day, no matter what your role was. When we do that, we immediately get better. I've said it before, love is the greatest performance enhancing drug there is. Evan is someone to learn from. He had a really difficult role last year on our squad and stayed focused and dialed in all season and got everything out of himself that was possible. We all can apply that day-to-day focus on steady improvement and understanding that the process is not perfect and it doesn't need to be.

The thing that was so enjoyable about Saturday was seeing guys simply competing for the entire duration of the race. We never lost engagement, we kept fighting for spots, and we stayed in the moment. Our sophomores kicked us off first and they were off the line aggressively. Some of them paid a little bit for this later, but I loved their boldness. Jake Crotty seemed to find momentum throughout the race and did a great job of picking guys off throughout the race. The rest of our group lost some ground in the later stages of the race but hung in there good enough for a 2nd place team finish with a number of underclassmen running up on varsity. Matthew Miller and Hunter Covolo show a ton of potential with the way they approach racing and training. They're two guys who I guarantee a year from now we'll be talking about 2-3 minute time drops.

Next up was our varsity crew that was five underclassmen and one junior. Pretty fun to have a group of returning athletes compete at the varsity level. More importantly, when we looked at this group, we couldn't help but feel pride in who these guys are. They have such veteran presence and composure. They too were aggressive and we wondered how they'd handle the second half of the race. Luke Atzman just kept pressing. His effort was phenomenal. He just kept battling. Luke has displayed this unwillingness to settle all year long and he's made a huge impact on our team. Jack Easterhouse nailed another great race and expressed some real resiliency in that race. He was in each moment focused on the task at hand. Our freshmen in this race were tremendous. They displayed no sense of intimidation and went right after their varsity competition. I'm looking forward to seeing what they do together in Peoria. Finally, as we went to the starting line for the open race, I asked them to do one thing: compete for three miles. Wow, I loved what I saw in this race. First of all, Nick Charles set the pace from the gun. He went straight for the win. But what impressed me most was the fact that he was caught about 1.25 into the race and passed. But he fought right back and re-established a small lead. This went back and forth for the remainder of the race and Nick simply refused to give in. Brad Spinella also had a phenomenal race. Look at him: 5:30 faster than a year ago. Amazing. This was the best race of his career. Let's keep that rolling and take another step this week. Zee Ebert was so impressive. He opens up in a great spot in 17th, but then drops another 12 spots over the next two miles. He was moving the entire race. What a big effort from Zee. Marco Ortiz has made a ton of progress and continues to learn how to race. But he's a huge piece of our awesome F/S group. I can see him making our SWSC Sophomore lineup. He went from 18th to 8th place. A little more aggressive opening and committing to the big effort will pay off for Marco. Gavin Smalarz was mind blowing. We see more potential in him than he does in himself! And this race showed it. I was so excited by how he got out in the top ten in his first invitational and really put himself in a spot to hurt for the race. And he kept going. That's why we do this sport. Most of our day is spent in comfort. 1,440 minutes of comfort. For 15-20 minutes we go test our limits. And Gavin did that. That's why I coach this sport. For those moments. I was also proud of Hilal Udin and how he initially did not want to race but faced his doubts and got out there and raced. He learned something about himself. He can accept the challenge.

Next week we will be challenged to have this energy, enthusiasm and willingness to compete in a much more challenging competitive environment. Let's meet the challenge.

WHAT'S NEXT: Goals for Peoria: Some of the best runners in the state are there. Tear em up and send them home. PR's for everyone. Sub 16:30 Club for F/S and Sub 15:15 Club for juniors/seniors.

RUNNERS OF THE WEEK: Jackson Canellis, Myles Jacquez, Trent Anderson
Peoria Notre Dame Invitational
Saturday, Sept. 17, 2022
Lower 80s sunny

One of our goals for this meet was to bring the energy, focus and confidence that we were developing since Lyons to a competitive and challenging environment, which of course the Peoria Notre Dame Invitational provides. This is why we go to this meet. We want our key characteristics to be challenged by this competitive environment. We met this challenge really well on Saturday. I saw in-race engagement all day. From the early arrival at Sandburg, to our rest stop to complete dynamics and strides, to warm up, our body language and demeanor at the starting line, and then within the race itself. Rarely did I see someone check out. Our first race of the day demonstrated this focus really well. As I was leaving the starting area, I turned to the coaches and said, "we're good. We're going to race well." I could sense it in their approach. It wasn't fake. We viewed the competition as an opportunity to be pushed to our best. We love that. We thrive off of that competitive challenge. The boys got out well and in good position. As you can see, for the most part we managed to battle and hold that spot well. Trent Anderson had that look of engagement that we were asking for and he was going back and forth with guys around him, battling through that final straightaway. He ran his fastest time of his career and had the look of someone who want to be a rock solid competitive leader than we can count on no matter what. Grant Giblin put together a solid 2 miles, lost some ground after that then had a lightning fast final 300 meter stretch to pass several guys back. Ibrahim Tineh had a much improved race and final mile from Lyons where we lost engagement. He was back on Saturday and needs to continue to bridge what is right now a little too large of a gap from 2 to 3. But it was a solid performance and a good indication as we head toward the next segment of the season. Luke Atzman was in his first varsity race with state-level competition. He responded effectively, staying inside the moment and giving himself positive internal feedback as he was surrounded by a thick pack. Evan Deimling lost some precious ground in the final mile, but he made a ton of progress and is piecing together a great performance. We followed up the strong varsity race with our F/S squad that featured four freshmen who ended up scoring in our top five. By the way, please take a look at Luke Atzman's performance from a year ago. Damian would have had a huge time drop as well but is still coming back from some time out. We had four freshmen beat Luke's performance by a minute or more. Looking back, our big three All-State seniors from last season ran the following times their freshmen year at PND: Declan Tunney-18:53; Brock Rice-19:18; Sean Marquardt-17:14. Sean was 89th in the F/S race, Declan and Brock were 171st and 214th in the open race. Those three ended up 5-19-20 for three all-state honors last year. Luke is currently contributing on the varsity level as a sophomore. That gives you some insight into where this group can go from here. The key to keep in mind is what those guys did after their freshmen XC season was over: they committed to training year round and that is how they made the progress. Right now, we have tremendous potential. What matters is what we do with it. What impressed me most was how our guys stepped into a thick, competitive field filled with sophomores and stayed composed. Mateo Ramiro Garcia went from 30th at the mile to 19th simply by chipping away throughout the race. There were no big moves, just staying on the gas and avoiding becoming passive. Our freshmen did a phenomenal job of being active racers and it resulted in massive PRs. Jackson Canellis has been such a tough runner this year. He's been super impressive. Even when he's having an average day, he's staying in it and always fighting. The commitment from him and Myles Jacquez has been phenomenal. Rarely do freshmen get so dialed in like they are. We have a number of awesome freshmen and these two are awesome core leaders for that group. Finally, our open guys were really in the thick of the masses and also stayed in the role of active racing. We had PRs across the board(almost 100%) with this group. We are seeing massive improvement in this group week-to-week. Stavros Kladis dropped two and a half minutes from his Reavis performance a week ago. We come away from this meet with a couple of clear takeaways: 1. We know how to interpret competition and the approach we need to succeed in highly competitive and challenging environments. 2. We know we have a lot of work to do to get to where we need to be. If we add these two concepts together, we should be in good shape as we move toward October.

NEWS AND NOTES

RUNNERS OF THE WEEK: Gavin Smalarz, Myles Jacquez, Grant Giblin Andrew/Peoria Central/St. Charles N Invitationals

Thurs. Sept 29 , Sat. Oct 1, 2022

62 degrees, calm, sunny (Thurs), Upper 50s/Low 60s, Calm, Sunny (Sat)

COACH'S COMMENTS:

We had six races over the course of three days for our team as we wrapped up invitational season and now head into a week of training before championship season begins. Too much to cover but some great highlights and takeaways: Gavin Smalarz made an enormous jump this week. This is why we have been pushing him and others in his group. We know what can happen if you start dedicating yourself to the sport. Imagine if Gavin had run summer camp? He clearly has huge upside and can be a tremendous runner. This week proved that. I'm super impressed with his tenacious racing. (Had Gavin still been allowed on the north side of the exit sign in the hall of fame, he'd still be floundering in the mid 20s!) Likewise, Marco Ortiz has been steadily improving and is displaying some great talent. I always say, if someone is in the 18s as a freshman, he can be an absolute stud on varsity in a couple years...if he dedicates himself to training Polar Bear, track and summer camp. Brock Rice was at practice on Friday, home from Bradley where he is on scholarship. He didn't break 18:00 minutes as a freshman and went on to run 14:48. I can list dozens of similar stories. Marco and Gavin are in that range of talent and are displaying a lot of promise.

Ahead of them, we've had some of the most dedicated and determined freshmen we've ever seen. Mateo Ramiro-Gacia inspired us all with a win on Thursday followed up with a tough challenge in the varsity race where he thrived on competition. This is something we are always talking about: your relationship with competition. Mateo showcases someone who doesn't see it as a threat. It excites him. Wow, his performance at St. Charles, along with Jackson Canellis, was so impressive. Those guys got in that race and totally disrespected their competition. These guys are champions. They are always competing, whether that be at practice or racing. Myles Jacquez has been right there with those two all season long and has been so consistent. Consistency is the greatest expression of toughness. Myles had a great race on Thursday and totally took on the mission of racing varsity on Saturday. Once again, no hesitation. He has so much potential and is having a heck of a freshman season. Next, take a look at Phil Lewandowski and Ben Lewandowski. Starting at Pre-SWSC with mid 26 and 27:00, they're now approaching the 20:00 barrier. That's some massive improvement. Stavros Kladis managed to break the 20:00 barrier, dropping four minutes over the course of the season. Grant Giblin had a great race and simply looked strong and had that look of an engaged competitor. Gibs has been consistent and a reliable focal point for us as we build around him. Likewise, Luke Atzman continues to show up for our team this year with earned trust and steady improvement from his determined work ethic.

Some takeaways: our freshmen continue to impress and have what it takes to be one of the best teams in the country if they're willing to stick together and put in the time and effort for the next three years. Our seniors are going to decide how they'd like this season to go. They're going to be a determining factor for what the legacy of this team will be. It is in their hands. Fortunately, I am extremely confident in them making this a great story.

We come off invitational season with a sense of belief and purpose. That is powerful. We are powerful.

RUNNERS OF THE WEEK: Mateo Garcia-Ramiro, Grant Giblin, Matt Miller, Jake Crotty, Marco Ortiz, P Lewandowski, B Lewandowski
SWSC @ Lockport Campus
Saturday, Oct. 15, 2022
High 40's, slight variable wind, mostly sunny

What an ideal way to conclude our season of a full squad racing. It's perhaps my favorite day of the season. We get to see the culmination of everyone's season worth of effort and collective energy. This race is a microcosm of what our program is all about. We see the manifestation of our practices leading to improvement. We see why we are pushed on a daily basis. We see why it's so important to be there for each other every day. We see why we focus on character traits throughout the season. We see why we refuse to accept excuses. This day showcases what it means to beat our own self-imposed limitations and be better versions of ourselves. The challenge of the season gets to express itself on this day where we pin point our training to make sure we are ready to showcase the dedication of the season.

Our F/S kicked off the day and I cannot say how enjoyable it is to be around these guys. They showed composure and, most of all, excitement before the race. They were simply excited to get to race. I sized up the competition with Lincoln-Way East earlier in the week. Honestly, I wanted to put pressure on these guys. The match up from the Andrew F/S meet just a couple weeks ago was super close. It was going to be a tight race. One thought would be to attempt to minimize the pressure and try to get them to race loose. But I know champions when I see them and these guys are champions. And they had the competitive response over and over again that we are looking for. First of all, Mateo Ramiro-Garcia took to the front and was challenged by an Andrew runner. Throughout his battle with this guy, which lasted all the way to the finish, at no point did I or any other coach question how it was going to turn out. We had so much faith in Mateo. He has earned trust. He's such a competitor. Meanwhile, Jackson Canellis and Myles Jacquez had tremendous competitive synergy. They have the makings of all-time greats. Jackson did not feel his best. He wasn't feeling well, he has muscle soreness from the workout Wednesday, and he had a big stomach cramp. But he dealt with it. He responded. Myles certainly helped him along the way, pulling him along at various competitive moments. Those two simply find ways to compete and never leave the moment they're in. Jake Crotty has been rock solid for us this year, totally reliable. We can count on him every race. He continually works his way through the field and gets better as the race goes on. We always know that wherever he is in the field, he is going to finish in a better position. What an awesome season for Jake as he became All-Conference. Along those lines, Jack Easterhouse has had a phenomenal sophomore year with massive improvements, but most importantly, we see him running with more passion and desire than ever before. That plus time always wins out. And while Gavin Smalarz had a tough second half of the race, we loved his courage and aggression. From the gun, he went to the front and pushed the pace. Yes, he was a little too aggressive, but he has shown signs of greatness. Gavin has only just started finding his true ability in this sport and on this team. He has a choice now to continue that progress and imagine how that race will go a year from now? He could be winning that race a year from now! We then turned to the varsity race. Five guys. Five had to get it done. That's how we like it. Grant Giblin looked as dialed in as I've ever seen him. It's been a joy watching him race this season. He is having fun and competing hard. Grant and Trent Anderson had great synergy together: collective energy. They've both shown the ability to race effectively together and also going it solo. We now have trust and confidence in their ability to be effective no matter the method or how a race unfolds. Ibrahim Tineh committed early to a strong pace. He maybe needs to give Trent and Grant a little space earlier and then be better mid race. He always closes it down in the end. In this race, with some tight LWE groupings coming in, IB dug down deep and passed multiple guys in the final stretch when we needed him. Evan Deimling solidified our group with some tough racing and continues to improve. Our gap is still too large but I have faith we are going to cut that down. And while Luke Atzman had a down race, we know he's going to be healthier moving forward. He's been rock solid all year and always manages to show up big for the team. Finally, our Open Race showcased some absolutely stunning improvement. Matthew Miller was a highlight for sure. While we can't pinpoint precisely how much improvement he made from Pre-SWSC to SWSC, we can certainly see it. Marco Ortiz was right there with Miller and both are super exciting freshmen with a ton of potential. As we've said many times, if they are committed to our training year round, they will be phenomenal varsity runners some day. Along those same lines, the Lewandowskis were tremendous. Wow. Seven minutes of improvement over two months! Wow. Colin Wurster dropped nine minutes!

The success of our program is based on our commitment to training year round—winter, track, summer camp. When you reflect on Saturday and how much fun it was, imagine where you could be a year from now. Look at the massive improvement in two months. Now consider what happens over a year. Then do that for four years. That's how we become champions. That's how we find out what our best truly is. Some of us showed off four years of commitment on Saturday. Some of us displayed only an initial footing in this sport, just starting to figure it out and see where we could go from here. What we all showed was pride in Sandburg cross country and what this team has meant to us this fall. This is championship oxygen.

WHAT'S NEXT: IHSA Regional starts at 10:00 for boys, 10:45 for girls. Midlothian Meadows 153rd and Pulaski.

LET'S KEEP IT GOING! EVERYONE IS A PART OF THIS CHAMPIONSHIP RUN! OUR STRENGTH IS IN OUR ENTHUSIASM FOR EACH OTHER.

NEWS AND NOTES

RUNNER OF THE WEEK: Team
IHSA Regional @Midlothian Meadows
Saturday, Oct. 22, 2022
60s degrees, sunny, some wind

COACH'S COMMENTS:

We knew the competition at the Regional meet wasn't going to be the stiffest of the season, to say the least. What we wanted to do was execute our planned opening at Sectionals and State and lower our gap from our front two runners. While it didn't go perfectly well, we did learn some important things from the race and also won a Regional title in the process. What we learned from the opening is that IB needs to just be himself and go for it. I made the mistake of holding him back. When we roll at Sectionals, we are gunning it and not holding back and we're going to be ourselves and take no prisoners. And that's why we try these things at meets where we have lower stakes.

When the race went off, our front two of Trent Anderson and Grant Giblin were to the front and smooth. They're so efficient and strong. They have established a strong competitive pairing and have made each other better. Behind them Ibrahim Tineh and Evan Deimling were giving them some space, but in retrospect it was a little too much space. We took the IB out of IB. Even still, they competed hard and simply needed to close that race out, especially with the one-on-one match up with Stagg kids in the final straightaway. We're going to need to dig deeper and run through the finish line and lean. If IB simply performs the way he performed at SWSC, then our gap is much better and we're in a significantly better team position. So we know it's there and I know he elevates his game in big races. What perhaps impresses me most about our three freshmen of Mateo Ramiro-Garcia, Jackson Canellis and Miles Jacquez is that they always show up and perform even when they're less than 100%. I always check in with them and they always reassure me. Saturday was another example of that. That is true toughness.

Overall, we got what we needed to out of the Regional and know what we have to do heading into Sectionals. We are in a great spot and will continue to improve as we round out our training and get sharp. I wish everyone knew how significant the intangibles are. The atmosphere people contribute to: The energy. The positivity. The confidence. The competitiveness. These were the champions. One thing we can always control is to have a championship spirit. A championship passion. That is controllable. I know we will have that championship energy at Waubonsie Valley on Saturday and Detweiller the following Saturday. Let's continue to always stay in the moment, especially as we enter the last portion of the season. Stay in the moment, whether you are in math class, practice, with family, or within the race. If we do this, we will maximize our abilities and enjoy the journey.

WHAT'S NEXT: IHSA Sectional at Waubonsie Valley High School. 10:30 race time.

"I was giving up. I would have given up--if a voice hadn't made itself heard in my heart. The voice said, 'I will not die. I refuse it. I will make it through this nightmare. I will beat the odds, as great as they are. I have survived so far, miraculously. Now I will turn miracle in routine. The amazing will be seen every day. I will put in all the hard work necessary' ...I discovered at that moment that I have a fierce will to live...Some of us give up on life with only a resigned sigh. Others fight a little, then lose hope. Still others--and I am one of those--never give up. We fight and fight and fight. We fight no matter the cost of battle, the losses we take, the improbability of success. We fight to the very end. It's not a question of courage. It's something constitutional, an inability to let go..."

--Life of Pi, Yann Martel
